It's Time to Return Wisconsin's Surplus to the Taxpayers

GREEN BAY, Wisc. – Representative John Macco (R-Ledgeview) issued the following statement regarding the latest tax relief package introduced by Legislative Republicans.

“This package is part of a longer commitment to delivering Wisconsinites a tax code that encourages growth and prosperity,” said Rep. Macco. “Families in Wisconsin are struggling with rising costs and inflation, but at the same time our state is sitting on a nearly $4 billion surplus. It is long past time to return that surplus as real tax relief for working families and retirees.”

“This session, we have submitted numerous proposals to put our surplus back into the hands of the taxpayers, but Governor Evers has turned them all down. Rather than introducing this proposal as a single, comprehensive bill, this package is separated into four bills. While I am hopeful that the Governor will sign them all, this way he has multiple options to deliver meaningful relief to the people of our state.”
