Rep. Steffen Joins Area Lawmakers to Host Budget Listening Session

Representatives Steffen, Steineke, and Senator Cowles Will Hold a Session to Gather Public Input

Madison- State Representative David Steffen (R-Howard) announced that he, along with Rep. Steineke (R-Kaukauna) and Senator Cowles (R-Green Bay) will be holding a budget listening session to gather public input regarding the 2015-17 biennial budget.

Following the release of Governor Walker's proposed two-year budget, the Legislature began the task of reviewing the proposal and gathering public input. Earlier this month the Joint Committee on Finance (JFC) completed its agency briefings and is now beginning its series of public hearings to be held throughout the state. Budget listening sessions provide another forum for constituents to express their concerns, ask questions, and provide input as it relates to the budget.

"As part of the budget review process, I encourage constituents to attend upcoming public hearings and listening sessions. My goal as a State Representative is to ensure that the voices of my constituents are heard throughout this process," said Rep. Steffen.

Rep. Steffen will be available to meet with constituents at the location and time listed below:
