

WISCONSIN STATE PARK SYSTEM

VISITOR ACTIVITY GUIDE

Welcome to the Wisconsin State Park System!

As Governor, I invite you to enjoy some of Wisconsin's most cherished resources – our state parks, trails, forests and recreation areas. From the waterfalls of Pattison State Park and the beaches of Kohler-Andrae State Park to the breathtaking views at Kettle Moraine State Forest and hundreds of miles of trails traversing the state, Wisconsin is blessed with a wealth of incredible natural beauty. These pristine natural resources have been captured and preserved for over a century through the Wisconsin State Park System and are just waiting to be explored and enjoyed.

We have balanced public access with resource conservation and created a state park system that today stands as one of the finest in the nation. We're proud of our incredible state parks, trails, forests and recreation areas and the many possibilities they offer families who want to camp, hike, swim or simply relax in Wisconsin's great outdoors. My wife, Tonette, and our family have taken advantage of the recreational opportunities available through the state park system for many years and have collected a lifetime of fond memories.

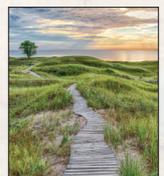

More than 14 million people visit one of our state parks or recreation areas each year. With more than 100 locations statewide, a connection to the woods, waters and prairies of Wisconsin is always close at hand.

Use this guide as your starting place to create a memorable outdoors experience at one of our parks and recreation areas. We look forward to welcoming you.

Sincerely,

Firewood Rule

Wisconsin has rules about transporting firewood – for the latest details, make sure you consult dnr.wi.gov/invasives/firewood. These rules are intended to stop the spread of forest pests and diseases that are transported in firewood. Firewood from sources approved by the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection is allowable. Wood that does not meet these criteria may be confiscated and destroyed. The person possessing such firewood may be subject to a citation.

Carry in – Carry out

In an effort to reduce, reuse and recycle, visitors to our picnic areas, shelters, beaches and other day-use areas are encouraged to pack reusable items and required to take garbage and recyclables home. It's good for us and it's good for our earth.

Pets

Pets are welcome in Wisconsin State Parks, forests, recreation areas and trails when on a leash and under control. For the protection of wildlife and visitors, pets are not allowed in picnic areas, buildings, on the beach or on nature trails. Pets may not be left unattended at any time. Other restrictions may apply. Please check the park office for specifics.

State Park System Friends Groups

More than 80 Friends groups around the state provide volunteer help, raise funds, and host events at the state parks, forests, trails and recreation areas. The umbrella organization, Friends of Wisconsin State Parks (FWSP.org) supports these local Friends groups and raises private funds for state park system enhancement and preservation. For more information, contact Friends of Wisconsin State Parks at 608-261-8453.

Nature Programs

Many Wisconsin State Parks have nature centers with exhibits on the natural and cultural history of the region, audio/visual presentations and guest speakers. Others offer guided nature hikes, self-guided nature trails, informal campfire programs and special events.

The Wisconsin Explorer program, for children ages 3-11, helps families explore the outdoors together while enjoying nature activities, scavenger hunts, games, hikes and crafts. Participants complete requirements and earn collectible patches.

Visit wiparks.net for a listing of upcoming events in Wisconsin State Parks. No Web access? Call 715-365-8966 or write to us for a free copy.

The Ice Age National Scenic Trail will wind through Wisconsin for approximately 1,000 miles when complete. The trail will traverse some of Wisconsin's most scenic landscapes and help tell the story of the last Ice Age by highlighting the state's unique glacial features. More than 600 miles of the trail are developed and open. Several properties specifically purchased for the Ice Age Trail are part of the WSPS. The purpose of these State Ice Age Trail Areas (SIATAs) is to permanently protect lands to provide for segments of the Ice Age Trail; preserve Wisconsin's glacial landscape features and other natural and cultural resources associated with the trail route; and, where possible, offer a primitive atmosphere of relative solitude and perceived remoteness where visitors may experience a quiet connection with nature. These properties provide opportunities for low impact public recreation such as hiking, backpacking and snowshoeing while protecting the natural and scenic character within this corridor. For more information, please call the Ice Age Trail Alliance at 800-227-0046 or visit iceagetrail.org.

As a State, we are committed to preserving our family fun environment, both now and for generations to come.

Wisconsin's diverse and beautiful natural resources – the scenic lakes, streams, bluffs, forests, prairies and the wildlife that inhabit them, give visitors many reasons to experience Wisconsin again and again.

Travel Green Wisconsin is a certification program designed to help organizations implement practical yet comprehensive responsible tourism practices so the cherished experiences visitors to the Wisconsin State Park system seek – respect, adoration and oneness with nature remain pristine.

Leading the way are many of the parks, trails, forests and recreation areas listed in this publication. All Wisconsin State Parks are Travel Green Wisconsin certified.

Protecting and preserving our most treasured assets requires the help of everyone who loves Wisconsin, and many businesses are making changes to help do their part. We invite you to join us in celebrating their commitment. Look for the Travel Green Wisconsin seal in this guide, online and as you're out and about traveling green in Wisconsin.
