“No Cost” Women’s Health Benefits Begin

On Wednesday, the nation took a huge step forward to provide common sense healthcare for everyone. Under President Obama’s Affordable Care Act, 8 basic preventive care services, including birth control, will be offered to all women insured under most health care plans. Across the nation, about 47 million women are estimated to received some benefit from preventative health services. This is altogether fantastic news! Women have always had to pay more far more for their health care than men, until now. And because the newly guaranteed benefits invests in prevention, everyone saves money. This is a common sense solution. Women and taxpayers everywhere win will these new benefits!

The Legacy Matters

Primaries are occurring throughout Wisconsin on August 14. Be sure to vote! I encourage by constituents to especially pay very close attention to the race in Assembly District 10 in North Milwaukee. The vast majority in District 10 is African-American, and District 10 has a long tradition of supporting strong community leadership. For thirty years, the 10th was represented by Annette Polly Williams, a fantastic public servant (pictured). When voting, please consider whether each candidate has deep ties to the community, whether they and their children live in the community. Only then can we elect more wonderful legislators like Annette Polly Williams. We need leaders that share our values and experiences.

Amtrak is Hiring

For my constituents currently seeking employment, I would like to bring to your attention a potential job opportunity. Amtrak is aggressively hiring strong men and women with valid driver’s licenses. The jobs are located throughout the country, supported by President Obama’s infrastructure stimulus. The job involves training in Atlanta and pays well. You can apply for this or several other open position at <http://www.csx.com/?fuseaction=careers.main>

Districing Was Partisan All Along

Since drawing new voting district maps last year, Republicans have claimed that they never intended for the maps to hand them a political advantage. New documents made public Tuesday reveal that they discussed ways to increase the number of "safe" and "leaning" Republican districts while drawing the maps. It is important to realize that Republicans lied to the voters of Wisconsin. They had always considered Republican political advantage to be their number one priority, and the shamelessly claimed that was not the case. Now, Wisconsin may have to wait ten years before maps can be redrawn fairly. Who loses? The voters.

What the Olympics Mean

I love the Olympics. Every two years, we see the best of humanity as nations come together, put aside their differences and enjoy the beauty and spectacle of world-class acts of athleticism. And while the Olympics are important for international peace, I don't think we can forget their importance at home. Every two years, we come together as a nation, no longer divided by Brewers vs. Cubs or Democrats vs. Republicans. We are all Americans, and we all love the games. The events are as diverse as our values, and athletes are as diverse as the nation itself. We are all in this together. Go Team USA!
