A Day in the Life at Eleva-Strum

This last week I had the pleasure of spending the day at the Eleva-Strum School District and was accompanied by many wonderful students and faculty throughout the course of their school day. It is not often that you spend an eight hour day back in school after becoming an elected official. I had a great time getting to know the many teachers and students that make this school awesome.

There was a full schedule of activities planned for the day that included going to social studies classes, AP Literature, AP Calculus, physical education, lunch with the students, and going to Cardinal Manufacturing. After the school day ended, the Superintendent Cory Kulig and I spoke about many different topics in regard to the school district. Also, Principal Josh Skoug gave me a great tour of the facility so that I was able to see for myself all the different parts of the school. I felt very welcomed and was excited to see students learning real world skills that will help shape their future career paths.

The enthusiasm and attentiveness both by the students and teachers in all the classes that I attended was great to see. Teachers are able to make the best use of their time allotted and the students did an excellent job in the classroom listening and following instruction.

I spent two entire periods in Cardinal Manufacturing and I was thoroughly impressed with the atmosphere in regard to the work ethic, attitude, and good posture among many other positive attributes. The students are greeting people with a smile and are learning to be held accountable for what you do and decisions you make. It is great to see how these students handled circumstances just like how life situations are dealt with in the real world. Craig Cegielski is doing not only his class, but his community a great service by prepping our youth for the reality of how life is and somehow is making it fun and exciting for everybody.

There will be an Open House at Cardinal Manufacturing on May 15 from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. I encourage everybody to attend the Open House to see how great students are producing and managing business methods. The program is excellent and I am happy to have been able to see and experience it myself.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE • 92nd ASSEMBLY DISTRICT

The following day Eleva-Strum Elementary came to the Capitol for a school visit and I was thrilled to see some familiar faces. We even got to take photos in front of the Assembly Chambers.

I look forward to visiting more schools in the future to be able to experience different school districts and their needs as well as to educate kids on what a State Representative does.

As always, feel free to contact my office with questions, comments, or concerns.
