Agriculture Unites Us All

Wisconsin is continually recognized for their dairy production, however, there are many more great commodities like soybeans, corn and cranberries grown right here in our state. I am a fond supporter of whole milk dairy and along with delicious Wisconsin cheese curds. It is always wonderful to hear from constituents and various organizations when it comes to the agriculture industry because there is always something new to learn.

On Wednesday, March 20th the State Capitol hosted Agriculture Day. The Wisconsin Farm Bureau visited my office and it was great to have constituents from my district expressing their current issues and concerns with the agriculture industry. In addition, there are many other farming and dairy organizations that have voiced their opinions to my office.

Seeing as I sit on the Committee on Agriculture in the Assembly, these issues are extremely important not only to me, but to our state as well.

This week I signed onto a letter in support of “The Whole Milk for Healthy Kids Act of 2019 (H.R. 832)” addressed to Senators Ron Johnson and Tammy Baldwin, Representatives Sean Duffy, Ron Kind, Gwen Moore, Glen Grotham, Mark Pocan, Mike Gallagher, Bryan Steil, and James Sensenbrenner. The letter is in support of a bipartisan bill in congress to support allowing regular and flavored whole milk in schools across the nation.

While I know there are many struggles ahead of us in helping support our farmers, I am happy to see that the State of Wisconsin continues to be known for their agriculture and I am hoping that my colleagues look more closely at the importance of the industry to our state.

As always, feel free to contact my office with questions, comments, or concerns.
