

Q2 In July 2018, the Department of Children and Families changed an administrative rule relating to birth recovery costs from "intact families," which are unmarried parents who are living together. The Department no longer collects birth recovery costs from fathers who are living in the same residence as the mother. Previously, these fathers were subject to birth recovery costs. Do you support this rule change?

Answered: 56 Skipped: 1

ANSWER CHOICES	RESPONSES
Yes	26.79%	15
No	73.21%	41
TOTAL		56