Read To Lead

2017 Annual Operations Report

Council Meetings

The Read to Lead Development Council met a total of two times in 2017. The dates and topics covered include:

1. March 6, 2017 1:00-3:00
 - A presentation on the Ready4K text message program was given by Tiffany Graham of ParentPowered. Ready4K is text message program for parents of young children that offers facts and tips to facilitate literacy skill growth.
2. July 13, 2017 9:00-11:00
 - A presentation was given by Chloe Gibbs from Notre Dame on a potential study design to partner with the Ready4K text message program roll-out in Wisconsin.

Grants

There were no grants issued in 2017.

Legislative Audit Bureau Report

The Legislative Audit Bureau (LAB) released their annual report on November 28, 2017. This report recommended that the Department of Children and Families (1) follow its standard grant award procedures in awarding future grant funds, (2) encourage the Read to Lead Development Council to develop a formal position on whether to solicit funding to support literacy grants, and (3) develop and implement a plan to recruit new Read to Lead Development Council members and ensure there is a sufficient number of members to achieve a quorum. Below is an update in response to these LAB recommendations.

- 1) The Department intends to follow its standard grant award procedures in awarding future grant funds.
- 2) At the May 8, 2018 Read to Lead Development Council meeting a motion was unanimously passed to approve the formal position that at this time, the Read to Lead Development Council would not fundraise and would rely solely on the funding and resources provided from the legislature.
- 3) Starting in August of 2017 there was a significant effort to recruit new Council members who would be engaged with the Council and who have meaningful expertise in a related content areas. Each applicant completed an application and submitted a cover letter along with a current resume for review by the Secretaries Office. Eleven new Council members are have been recruited. There are now a total of 20 Council members.
