In Wisconsin, a crime is any conduct prohibited by state law that is punishable by a fine, a term of imprisonment, or both.¹ Crimes are classified as either felonies or misdemeanors, with the former generally considered more severe than the latter. This report offers an introduction to identifying and classifying misdemeanors followed by a complete list of all statutory misdemeanors.

Felony or misdemeanor

Although both felonies and misdemeanors are punishable by fine or imprisonment in Wisconsin, they are distinguished by the term and place of imprisonment. If a crime is punishable by confinement in a state prison, it is a felony; all other crimes are misdemeanors. Sentences of more than one year are served in a state prison and are therefore felonies.² Sentences of less than one year are served in a county jail and are therefore misdemeanors. Sentences of exactly one year are misdemeanors if the sentence is to be served in a county jail. If the place of imprisonment for a one-year sentence is not specified, the crime is a felony.³

Classes and penalties

Misdemeanor offenses that are located in the Criminal Code, Wis. Stat. chs. 939 to 951, are categorized into three classes. Each class has a maximum fine and term of imprisonment specified under Wis. Stat. § 939.51 \(3\) \(a\) to \(c\):

Misdemeanor class penalties in the Wisconsin Criminal Code

Class	Maximum fine	Maximum imprisonment
A	$10,000	9 months
B	$1,000	90 days
C	$500	30 days

Misdemeanor offenses outside the Criminal Code generally do not have an assigned class but may have a specified fine and term of imprisonment. For offenses for which no penalty is provided, Wis. Stat. § 939.61 \(2\) prescribes a fine of no more than $500, a term of imprisonment of no more than 30 days, or both. Additionally, special circumstances may warrant increased penalties. For example, Wis. Stat. § 939.632 \(2\) increases the penalties for certain violent misdemeanors committed in a school zone.

1. See Wis. Stat. § 939.12.

2. Note that, as amended by 2023 Wisconsin Act 9, Wis. Stat. § 346.65 \(3\) provides that a violation of Wis. Stat. § 346.62 \(3\) is punishable, among other things, by imprisonment for a term of not less than 60 days nor more than two years in a county jail.

3. State ex rel. McDonald v. Douglas Cnty. Cir. Ct., 100 Wis. 2d 569, 302 N.W.2d 462 (1981).

List of misdemeanors

The table below comprises all misdemeanors in the 2023–24 Wisconsin Statutes, including every criminal offense that is explicitly labeled a misdemeanor or lists penalties descriptive of a misdemeanor. Some penalties apply only to a single statute section or subunit, while others apply to a range of statute sections. The table is presented in ascending statutory order and includes the penalty or class associated with each misdemeanor.
