Here's an update on yesterday's letter. Turns out I may or may not be a client, based on language in the contract. The law firm representing the entire state senate is under the direction, or something along those lines, with the majority leader. Hmmm... Anyway, I've made an open records request with the Senate Chief Clerk and hope to have a copy of the contract soon. I will then seek an opinion from the Legislative Council asking to clarify a couple of questions I have, like, how does a secrecy agreement with just the republicans constitute fulfillment of the contractual agreement representing the entire state senate? Since the firm is under the direction, or something along those lines, of the majority leader, would the firm need his OK before drafting and signing the secrecy agreement? You know... questions like that. I will let you know if I hear anything.

Like · Share · Wednesday at 12:53pm ·