Walker should veto redistricting, work with Risser on better plan
Capital Times
The governor should veto the hyper-partisan plan for redistricting Wisconsin legislative seats that was drawn up and hastily passed by his legislative allies. Gov. Scott Walker has launched what some are referring as a "charm offensive. ... See all stories on this topic »

Hopper, King steadfast as recall election nears
Milwaukee Journal Sentinel
"People are concerned about the pace of government, the extreme agenda, and what's next," she said, referring to votes on the budget, increased veto powers for the governor and recent redistricting. "People are realizing that eventually it's going to ... See all stories on this topic »

The Hitchhiker's Guide To How the Debt Deal Could Fall Apart
Fox News (blog)
Due to redistricting, Iowa loses a Congressional seat next cycle. So Latham finds himself running against Rep. Leonard Boswell (D-IA) next year. Latham may have been hard-pressed to vote against his friend if Boehner really needed the vote. ... See all stories on this topic »
