Madison, WI – Today, Senator Dan Feyen (R-Fond du Lac), released the following statement after today’s Budget Address:

“Tonight, the governor laid out his list of ideas for Wisconsin’s 2023-2025 biennial budget. This is an important starting point in the budget process and I am looking forward to diving into the details.

“In the coming weeks and months, the legislature will work towards crafting a final budget that cuts taxes while funding our shared priorities. This budget will make strategic investments and keep Wisconsin on strong financial footing.

“Our State is sitting on a generational surplus and there are priorities that will receive increased focus and attention. But, with continued inflation and looming economic uncertainty, now is not the time to spend every dime in the piggy bank. We need to be smart about our investments to set Wisconsin up for sustained success. The final budget will do just that.”
