Senate Overrides Several Evers' Vetoes and Rejects Meagan Wolfe

Madison, WI – The Senate met earlier to take action on several items including votes to override three of the Governor's vetoes this session as well as three political appointments that ultimately resulted in the rejection of Meagan Wolfe as Wisconsin Elections Commission ("WEC") Administrator. Senator Duey Stroebel (R – Cedarburg) issued the following statement:

"Today, Senate Republicans voted to rollback Governor Evers' rejection of the largest tax cut in state history and also repeal his 400-year property tax increase. Evers' partial budget vetoes made it abundantly clear that he will do everything in his power to keep your money so he can spend it as he sees fit. That's just wrong. Unsurprisingly, not a single Democrat voted to give their constituents meaningful tax relief as Wisconsinites continue to face inflationary pressures."

"Additionally, I joined my Republican colleagues in voting to override Evers' failure to protect consumers from arbitrary local government intervention into the future through his veto of Senate Bill 49. It's concerning this veto was made after states like California, New York and Washington banned natural gas connections like ranges. If SB 49 doesn't become law, Evers and his radical friends will be able to join other liberal states in their efforts to restrict consumer choice."

"I gladly voted against Meagan Wolfe's confirmation on the floor today. Wisconsinites have concerns with election integrity, and Meagan Wolfe has lost the trust of many Wisconsinites due to her efforts to skirt the rule of law. Meagan Wolfe had the opportunity to defend her position as WEC Administrator, but could not even take the time to show up to her hearing. I called for Meagan Wolfe's resignation back in 2021, and it still holds true today."

Senator Stroebel represents the 20th Senate District which includes parts of Ozaukee, Washington, Fond du Lac, Calumet and Sheboygan Counties.
