STATEMENT ON GOVERNOR EVERS' "STATE OF THE STATE" ADDRESS

"It feels like Groundhog Day, except from learning and growing from the past seven years of speeches, he keeps repeating the same speech every January, hoping for a different result."

"We've heard this speech seven times before. It's the same partisan rhetoric about maps, the same empty promises representing broken and failed ideas. The same promises to spend huge amounts of money without saying how he'll pay for it, with the same claims of supporting tax relief he promised to veto. He doubled down on everything. And taking credit for a surplus, that only exists because vetoed Republican tax cuts that would have returned that extra money to seniors and the middle class taxpayers."

"Governor Evers should not mistake his tony-mandered legislative maps for a shift to the left in Wisconsin. This state is as it was, a state focused on common sense solutions, not a big spending far-left extremist agenda. "
