Statement on Middle Class Tax Relief

“Governor Evers and Democrats have repeatedly said they support cutting middle class taxes.

“Governor Evers then vetoed a tax cut for everyone earning over $25,500 per year, because it included millionaires. And every Democrat voted “no” claiming it only benefited the rich.

“So Republicans went back to the drawing board passed a tax cut for the income tax bracket between $25,500 and $281,000. And, again, every Democrat opposed it and Governor Evers vetoed it because $281,000 was too rich and not “middle class.”

“So when Governor Evers said $150,000 was middle class, Republicans listened, and compromised and cut taxes for people earning between $25,500 and $150,000. And again, every Democrat voted “no.”

“Republicans voted to eliminate all taxes on retirement income up to $150,000, to help our seniors. And guess what? Every Democrat, except one, voted “no”, again.

“Democrats continue to claim they want middle class tax cuts, but every time they are offered a new plan, Democrats find a new way to say “no” and blame Donald Trump.

“It’s pretty simple. It’s clear that Democrats don’t want to provide tax cuts. Democrats have had opportunity over opportunity over opportunity to support middle class tax cuts. They simply refuse. They want to keep your money in Madison.”
