Senator Testin Helps Dispose of Waste in Adams County

January Edition of "On the Job" Connects Testin with Adams County Solid Waste Facility

Friendship, WI – Earlier this month, Senator Testin sorted garbage alongside employees at the Adams County Solid Waste Facility in Friendship, WI. This was the 23rd time in the last two years that Senator Testin has worked a day with a local Central or Western Wisconsin employer to demonstrate the breadth and depth of available job opportunities in the region.

“Wisconsin’s unemployment rate has held steady at or below 3.0% for a record eleven months, and that’s a major accomplishment,” said Senator Testin. “Our challenge now is to fill available jobs, and I want people to know that we have a variety of jobs in our part of the state. Every job is important, and they all need to be done.”

In February, Senator Testin plans to work at the Toro Manufacturing Plant in Tomah.
