SENATE REPUBLICANS RUN AWAY FROM THEIR JOB

Today we witnessed the last gasps of a desperate Republican caucus. More interested in ducking responsibility for a do-nothing session than doing any good on their last day, Senate Republicans fled the scene and left critical work undone.

I'm proud of the work my Democratic colleagues did in pointing out today's inaction and the simple steps Republicans could take if they were serious about PFAS or Western Wisconsin health care (spoiler: "Get the money out of Joint Finance")

The Republicans in the Senate ran away from the issues Wisconsinites want addressed and I look forward to more open, honest and effective debate in a Senate of the future.
