31 STATES

have a density reporting law

40% OF WOMEN

have dense breast tissue

Cancer turns up

5 TIMES

MORE OFTEN

in women with dense breast tissue than those with fatty breast tissue

- Breast density can hide cancers on mammography
- Breast Cancers found early have more treatment options and better survival outcomes
- Ask your health care provider if you have dense breast tissue
- There are secondary screening tests that can detect cancers that are masked on mammogram by dense breast tissue
- As the density of the breast increases, the sensitivity of the mammogram to ‘see’ cancer decreases
